Bienvenidos - Welcome

The El Chihuahua Restaurant bears the name of our homeland, the state of Chihuahua in Northern Mexico. The word Chihuahua is a Taramara Indian word which means a place where the corn grows, a feeding field.

This beautiful state in Mexico ranges from sandy deserts to high mountain forests. It is also the home of La Baranca Del Cobre or Copper Canyon, a desolate mountain range twice as deep as the Grand Canyon.

It was there at the foothills of Sierra Madre where our grandmother, a full-blooded Taramara Indian maiden, married a young French gentleman. Together they raised four children, one of which was our mother Dolores. It was at the age of seventeen that Dolores met a handsome young man of Spanish descent with curly, dark hair and green eyes. She was dazzled by his green eyes and they were married a few years after.

In 1966, Manuel and Dolores came to America (Utah) with their family to fulfill their version of the American Dream by opening their own restaurant. It was here that they taught their children what their forefathers taught them — the preparation of Mexican food.

We have always believed that Mexican food isn't what we do — it is what we are! We are proud to offer you the freshest produce, real cheese, choice meats, real dairy products and true Mexican recipes.

Here at El Chihuahua we don't do things with a flare. We're not flashy. We simply do what our ancestors taught us from day one: Mexican food the way it should be, not processed, not Americanized, and prepared fresh every day. Ours is truly Mexican.

So from the foothills of the Sierra Madre to your table, please enjoy our life. Our life is Mexican food.

Thank you and please come see us again.
